If a participant notices a mark-up defect during official recognitions, they are required to report it to the organization.

❖ Sanction

Failure to follow the course, take shortcuts or use any other unfair means to gain an advantage over other competitors will result in the participant being immediately disqualified.

❖ Checkpoints

Time control points will be set up along the route. If a competitor does not pass at all checkpoints, he will be knocked out of the race. The College of Commissioners will check all or part of the scores thus made.

❖ Changing the route

The organisation always reserves the right to modify the course, in the interest of the competitors and their safety.

❖ Respect for the environment

Given the beauty of the region and the site that hosts the event, we ask all participants to respect the environment – do not throw waste on the ground, do not leave the marked routes ... Waste collection areas will be set up on areas of the route such as refreshing point. Cow or other animals can be encountered on the course, competitors must avoid any risk of panic. Failure to comply with these rules may result in penalties or a knockout.

❖ Compliance with the traffic regulations

Each runner must comply with the traffic regulations on the sections open to traffic. Failure to do so may result in the runner being knocked out of the race.

B. Cut-off times

Different hourly barriers are put in place on the course. All competitors passing these points after the determined time limit will have to stop the race. The timetables and locations of the time barriers are communicated to competitors via the www.mb-race.com website as well as when the bib numbers are removed. Hourly barriers are subject to change at any time, including during the race if weather conditions require it.

C. Assistance

Any external assistance is prohibited on the route of the MB Ultra Somfy outside the areas provided for this purpose (at the refreshing points).

As required by regulation (Article 4.2.048, UCI Cycling Sport Regulations), it is the responsibility of the rider or his team (MTB UCI or national) to deposit the equipment in the technical assistance area. Only the rider himself or one of his teammates (same UCI MTB team or even national team) can make the repair or change of equipment in the area. In addition, technical assistance can be provided outside the zones, between teammates of the same MTB UCI team or the same national team (Art 4.2.049, UCI Cycling Sport Regulations).

The technical assistance areas are the same as the supply areas. The number of zones is set at 3 (Art 4.2.035, UCI Cycling Sport Regulation).

Bike change is strictly forbidden during the race.

D. Abandonment

For safety reasons, each rider who has given up will either have to go to the nearest checkpoint (volunteers, refreshing points ...) to announce his abandonment, or call the "abandonment" number that will be indicated on the frame plate (distributed when the registrations are withdrawn). Any abandonment is final.

E. Security

In the case of an accident, each competitor is required to assist the injured while waiting for the intervention of the organized rescue.
